

Radar

News. Finds. Opinions. Obsessions.

The swimming pool at the Park Hyatt New York. Swimsuit by Zero & Maria Cornejo.

DEBUT

THE BIG SPLASH

In Manhattan, where light and space are luxuries, the 25th-floor pool at the new Park Hyatt New York seems all the more indulgent. With its three-story windows and rippling marble walls, this sun-flooded aerie feels at once soaring and intimate. So does the hotel itself, thanks to the generous scale of the rooms and their residential-style details: a hand-painted mini-bar; a walnut desk-that's-actually-a-desk. "We imagined a family of art collectors, native New Yorkers with confidence in their taste," says Glenn Pushelberg of design firm Yabu Pushelberg. "Where would they live?" Apparently right across from Carnegie Hall—location being the ultimate luxury. park.hyatt.com. $$$$ —PETER JON LINDBERG

SEE BUYER'S GUIDE,
PAGE 170